Menorah Park in Beachwood held its 112th annual meeting Dec. 4, where three people were honored with awards, and officers and trustees were nominated to the board, while announcing it raised more than $2.44 million during its annual campaign.

Dr. Cameron Camp received the Dr. Arnold L. Heller Memorial Award for his work in geriatrics, while Menorah Park board member Earl Franklin earned the Irving I. Stone Leadership Award and Menorah Park board member Ira Kaplan was given the David N. Myers Award.

The leadership committee nominated Beth Rosenberg as president, Marc Silverstein and Brian Stern as vice presidents, Greg Marcus as secretary, Harry Singer as treasurer and Adam Wieder as associate treasurer. Nominated for two-year terms ending in December 2019 were Allan Felber, Adrienne Goldberg, Noreen Koppelman-Goldstein, Ken Marblestone, Joel Marx, Laura Scharf, Brian Stern, Adam Wieder and Rob Zimmerman. Ken Bravo and Judy Kaufman were named life trustees after completing 10 years of service and for their work on the board.

Publisher's Note: Greg Marcus is a member of the Cleveland Jewish Publication Company Board of Directors.
